WHY SHOULD YOU SPONSOR AWS 2022?

Now in its 12th year, The American Water Summit has established itself as the most important annual meeting point for senior executives working within the North American water sector. The Summit consistently delivers an action and opportunity-led program in tandem with a productive networking forum for executives to meet their peers and future clients.

It holds a unique position in the US water market; it is the only conference that tackles water, performance and money in a single agenda, bringing together top executives and visionaries from industry, the private sector, utilities and the federal government to shape America's sustainable water future.

THE CORE VALUES OF THE AMERICAN WATER SUMMIT:

Action – not only do we make it our mission to identify the pockets of investment and action in the market, we strive to make the conference actionable for our delegates. This means providing authoritative insight, delivering the right contacts and building communities to drive progress beyond the event.

An investment and opportunity-led program – we focus on projects, their value in terms of opportunity, and getting the people who are making the deals into the room. This isn't easy, so it's unlikely that you will find this approach anywhere else. This angle of the event alone gives you access to hard to reach opportunities and contacts.

Delivering long-term value for delegates – post-event, we build communities, produce white papers and nurture the networks that we have created, so the value of the conference to our attendees extends far beyond the three-day event.
